Head, Hands and Heart: What I learned from Art

Peter Geisser talks about what he has learned from 33 years of teaching Art to Deaf children; and how he has translated this knowledge into an art of public service and search for social justice. After retiring from the RI School for the Deaf in 2003 he has done stained glass commissions and also ceramic-sculpture/mosaic murals with colleague, Mika Seegar. This slide journey will look at some of Peter's art and ask the questions: "What is Art? Why do we make it?"

Peter was our recent juror for the Member's Show and we found him to be passionate, genuine and full of energy. He is back by popular demand and ready to inspire our hearts and our minds to truly see the power of art and the role it plays in our society.

Please join us for this member and community gathering and be infused with the life art brings. We are a non-profit organization seeking to promote art and educate our members and the public in the arts and art related projects. We suggest a $5.00 Donation.
