

Mike Dooley Photography

Mike Dooley is a Rhode Island-based seascape and landscape photographer known for capturing the quiet poetry of the natural world. With a camera in hand and the horizon in sight, Mike seeks out the calm, the still, and the honest moments that often go unnoticed—soft colors at sunrise, the gentle pull of the tide, the hush that settles over the coast just before the world wakes up.

Photography is more than a craft for Mike—it's a connection. A way of seeing, feeling, and reflecting. After decades in the software engineering world, he turned to photography as a release, a refuge, and a return to the tactile: holding prints in hand, standing barefoot in the sand, watching light change in real time. He believes the best photos come not from perfection, but from presence—and that images carry more power when they're made with intention and heart.

Mike's work has been exhibited in galleries across New England and collected by hospitals, banks, and private collectors who are drawn to the peace and presence in his photographs. His work has been featured in Shutterbug Magazine, where he was recognized for his masterful use of color, composition, and light.

When he's not behind the lens, Mike is likely reading a good mystery, singing along to '70s rock, or giving photography talks filled with passion, playfulness, and more than a few well-timed jokes.

Mike offers high-quality fine art prints designed to elevate any space—whether it's a sleek corporate office, a cozy waiting room, or a private collection curated with heart. Mike's photographs are more than images; they're windows to emotion, memory, and atmosphere—crafted with care and printed to gallery standards. Businesses and collectors alike trust Mike's work to bring depth, beauty, and a distinctive voice to their walls.
